The market is supplied with melons and peaches.

"Dolly Yarden," the new beverage dispensed by Joyce & Hardy, is really delicious. Try it.

The Kyle Klippers were beaten by the Prairie Runners of Prairie Lea, last Saturday. The Runners came out seven ahead.

Those new book-racks and hymn books on the pews of the Methodist church are calculated to encourage congregational singing.

The Prairie Runners, of Prairie Lea and the Kyle Klippers, of Kyle will play their third match game of base ball in San Marcos on the 11th of August.

Johnson & Johnson have revolutionized the appearance of their building in an agreeable manner by giving the brick work several coats of red paint.

We are glad to hear that Prof. Rote agrees to lecture on Frodo Schools, with reference to our present wants here, sometime during the session of the Teachers' Institute. Due notice will be given of the time.

The Luling Wasp says: "Seguin wants a mail route direct from San Marcos via Staples' Store. Mail for those points and the International north of San Marcos would thus gain a day.

See on our first page the masterpiece of Philosopher Vogelsang, his essay on "The Sun." He has been solicited by teachers and others to lecture on the subject, but declines, and says he will await criticism.

The Blanco court house injunction suit came to a hearing on Tuesday at this place before Judge Teichmuller. Ward & Poin- dexter appeared for the plaintiffs, and Judge Moore and Maj. Hutchison for the defendants. The court dissolved the injunction.

Much to our regret we have been unable to attend our Teachers' Institute, save by snatches. Our readers are indebted for the summary of its proceedings in another column, to our friend, Prof. A. A. Thomas, the secretary, who has kindly favored us.

We nearly always print a goodly number of extra copies of the Free Press, but the demand has for some time been such that we've run short. Much the better plan is to subscribe regularly and thus ensure against disappointment.

"Blow Your Big Bazo" is the title of a piece of music with a copy of which we have just been favored by Thos. Goggan & Bro., music publishers and dealers at Galveston. The words and pictorial illustrations are good, as we presume, is the music. Price, 50 cents.

Baptist association meets here tomorrow. We cannot positively state whether the ministers share in the weakness for spring chickens which has become proverbial with respect to the Methodist clergy, but suggest that the Baptist brethren would do well perhaps to consider the question.

N. A. Rice, photographer, has taken pictures of each member of the Alert Hose Co. They will be framed and hung in the company's hall and serve as mementos of the personnel of the company in its early days. It is just to say that Mr. Rice has executed his work in a very satisfactory manner.

Mr. Julian needn't be afraid of our ever catching him in a bad light. It is our opinion that it takes a man of brains to be an indi- cal.—Kyle News.

Well, we rather thought, notwithstanding your late intimation to the contrary, that it was not so much our infidelity that you objected to, as the reverse.

A very pleasant moonlight boating excursion took place at the head of the river last Monday night. There was a large attendance, comprising nearly all the teachers boarding at the College, and a party from Mrs. Franklin's and Mrs. Holland's. Boat-racing and singing were indulged in without limit. The party remained on the river until about 12 o'clock.

McLemore says "it takes a man of brains to be an infidel," and evidently thinks he is the man. He irresistibly suggests a scriptural character who is described as being "wiser in his own conceit than seven men who can render a reason." We need not name this character, but he may be more clearly recognized as being the same who "hath said in his heart, 'There is no God.'"

The unexpected death of Mrs. Capt. Martin and the consequent disruption of the family, affords one of the most striking illustrations of the vicissitudes of human affairs. Not two weeks since the happy household over which the good wife and mother had so long carefully and tenderly presided, was yet intact at their old home—now she is in her grave, and they are removed from their home, never to know a mother's love and care again.

It seems that sneak-thieves are again abroad. Last Thursday night while our worthy townsman, W. S. Gray, was bound by the silken cords of Old Solomna, one of these gentry audaciously abstracted his pants, containing some $6 in good and lawful money, from his sleeping apartments. It will be remembered that this sort of thing was quite frequent here a year or so ago. Let it be checked before it becomes epidemic. Shot guns and buck-shot will cure this trouble speedily if applied in time—that is, just at the right time.

At last, to all appearance, the gates around the court house yard have been made proof against the town crows. The method adopted to attain this end is a very simple one indeed, and now everybody wonders "why wasn't that thought of before." It consists in merely putting in a couple of parallel panels of plank, one on either side of the gate, which while it allows the gates to turn as before, prevents the vagrant horde from serpentizing its way in. To Mr. Theo. Herring, the tin and stove-wares man, belongs the credit of originating this plan. Mr. T. K. Hutchins did the work. Some- thing like this was evidently contemplated by the patentees of the fence, and it is a decided reflection on the assumed infallibility of the County Commissioners and their contractor, that they did not know how to make the gates tight at first, or call for a "padding" on the subject from the patentees. It is true, also, that the least convenience somewhat impairs the beauty of the fence, and interferes with the walks around it. But the crows can no longer come in, unless, indeed, they break the gates.

PERSONAL.

Col. Jackson called by his old home in Missouri on his return from Chester, Ill.

Jeff. Travis has gone out of the ice-cream business. What next?

Our friend Alex. Smith of Dripping Springs, was in town yesterday.

We notice that Dr. De Steigler is making considerable additions to his dwelling.

Mr. Will Johns, of Austin, made a visit to his cousins, the Connally boys, last week.

Miss Mary Richardson left the first of this week on a visit to Old Virginia.

Mr. Alf. Price, of Green & Price, left sometime since for New York to buy goods. He will return about the first of Sept.

We had a call last week from Mr. Kimball, an attorney of Bosque county, seeking a location.

Rev. Mr. Hayden, editor of the Texas Baptist, was here last week, and we had the pleasure of meeting him.

Judge Cheatham, as we learned from the sermon of Rev. Mr. French, was the first County Judge of Hays county.

Thanks to Mr. Wooten for a nice present of grapes. A vine of his which never produced much before, after being trimmed by Mr. Chastain now bears profusely.

Rev. B. Harris left Tuesday evening for Hondo City, whence he will go to Sabinal to preach the funeral of the late O. A. Fisher. He will return next Monday.

A son of Mr. G. W. Read, with his wife and child, from Arkansas, are here on a visit. He is thinking of making his home in Texas.

D. W. Pritchett informs us that he is expecting another visit from his friend Will S. Hutchins, and that he will probably arrive on Saturday.

R. W. Thomas, St. Louis; Sam Brown, New Orleans; H. J. Hanly and S. J. Sampson and H. West, are registered at the Hof- heinz.

In another place will be found one of the best poetical effusions of "Bessie Smith." Our readers may expect others from her pen from time to time.

Miss Lizzie Thompson, a most amiable young lady, who has been for some time visiting her cousin, Miss May Joyce, at this place, returned home last Saturday.

Mr. Campbell, who bought cotton here several years since, has shipped the first bale from San Marcos on the railroad, was in town Tuesday.

Dr. Fuller, dentist, of San Antonio, is in the city, and will remain for a short time. We commend the Dr. to our citizens. His headquarters are at the San Marcos Hotel.

Billy Thomas is from Presidio County. He is delighted with it as a stock region, and because of its cool climate. He says Mr. Allen is evidently destined to make a flourishing town.

Miss E. B. Carey, whose call we mentioned in our last, we learn has been at Gonzales for over a year since her return from the North. She left for Manchac where she will spend some time.

Our friend Z. T. Clift, of the vicinity of Martindale, has handed us some fully opened and developed cotton bolls, grown on his farm—the first which have come under our notice.

Mr. Phil. P. Cago, one of the contractors on the Blanco court house, formerly in the hardware business in our town, and an old resident of Blanco, favored us with his subscription last Tuesday.

Our Normal Institute was honored a day or so this week by the distinguished presence of State School Superintendent Baker and Dr. Baldwin, President of the Sam Houston Normal Institute.

Money is getting so abundant that a neighbor of ours on the North side sent up a large lot of new bank notes, in sheets, to be separated by the Free Press paper-cutter. We refer to the National Bank of San Marcos.

Frank Back is now farming on Capt. T. H. Ellison's place, down the river. He has about 30 acres of fine cotton, and feels safe for a big crop. We trust his anticipations may be fully realized.

Dr. Meyers has rented the late home of Capt. Martin. Capt. M. and family left on Sunday evening for Tuscaloosa, Ala. He will leave his children in charge of their grandparents there, but will himself at once return to Texas.

McLemore devotes half a column's space of his last issue to a mass of unmitigated gush and bomb over the departure from the Austin jail of his "illustrious predecessor, Cassell."

"A fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind."

We have at present three Thomases, not doubting but praying ones, so that when Bro. Harris calls on one to pray, all are ready to respond. The good person may find it necessary to devise some means to distinguish them.

Messrs. John W. Spear, Phil. P. Cago, C. P. Boon, W. J. Jackson, T. Conovon and J. B. Brice, from Blanco, are requested to meet at the court house on Tuesday next before Judge Teichmuller last Tuesday.

In a paragraph in our last, referring to the fishing expedition of Will and Burns Connally, Mr. Kelly and Allie Smith, Roger Byrne appeared by mistake. However, that does not mar the "cool story."

Prof. Rote delivered his second lecture at the court house Tuesday night his subject being School Discipline. His discourse was instructive, not only to teachers but to others as well. His next lecture will be on methods of instruction.

While large business houses and able financiers are now and then failing, we are glad to learn that the San Marcos Book-store, conducted by Russell & Ellison, our leading business house conducted by ladies, their recent taking of stock shows to be on a most healthy business and financial foundation.

Happening at the residence of Mrs. Matthews—the Col. Ellison place—were, were cordially received by the proprietress. She is a sister of the Brackehead brothers, so well known in western Texas. She is delighted with her new home, making, however, frequent visits to her old place of residence, San Antonio.

Mr. Woolfolk has on exhibition, at Bayliss & Daniels', a remarkable vegetable pertaining in about equal proportions of the nature of the squash and the pumpkin. It is quite large, about the size of a pumpkin. He proposes to save the seed and perpetuate it. For novelties Mr. Woolfolk takes the lead.

We were quite interested the other day during a call we made on our worthy friend John Richards. He has a much better house than the one which was destroyed by fire a year or two since. But the main point of interest is his irrigating wheel and pump, in the river, inside his grounds. These, after many partial failures, he now has in successful operation, discharging the water steadily at the rate of 60 gallons an hour into a tank in the earth, from which he can lead it all over his grounds. Mr. Richards did all the work himself, and deserves much credit for his enterprise and perseverance. He has a promising crop of ribbon cane, as well as various other things, growing on his place. Returning by the house, we noticed a suspicious dry cellar which he has constructed in the bank of the river, substantially walled and roofed, and which he says he will use for his high water, but he has it again in position and regular use, open also to the public.

The funeral sermon preached by Rev. Mr. French on Sunday at the Presbyterian church in commemoration of Judge Cheatham was a happy, well considered production. No morning service was had at the Methodist church, and Mr. Harris and many of his congregation, as well as many others, attended at the Presbyterian, which was crowded to its capacity.

We failed to mention last week a visit from Mr. Garrick, a young gentleman and business man from Coldwater, Miss. He has been prospecting in Texas with a view of going into business. Mr. Garrick is a friend and former townsman of Mr. J. W. Cannon. He returned home after spending a day or so here, much pleased with our beautiful and growing town.

Mr. H. S. Canfield, telegraph editor on the San Antonio Daily Express, whose wife is attending our Normal School, has obtained a week's furlough from the "telegraph" which he has devoted to "resting up" in our little city. He expresses himself as being very much pleased with the place and we trust his stay will prove a pleasant one. Mr. Canfield and wife are at Prescott's.

We had the pleasure of making the acquaintance of Mr. C. P. Boon, of Cago & Boon, contractors on the Blanco court house, last Tuesday. Mr. Boon is the efficient postmaster of Blanco, and informed us that the business men of that place entertained the most fraternal feeling for San Marcos, and were disposed to maintain their business relations with our town. We venture to say that they will find it profitable to do so.

We did not know till recently that Mr. Wootton has a farm in the mountains. It lies near that of Squire Coreham. He showed us some of its products the other day, and stated that he raised very fine crops of all kinds, including cotton, on it, the result, as he believed, of deep plowing—something that will always pay in any country.

The bills of our San Marcos National Banks are already in circulation. They are very pretty, and a good advertisement of the bank. An "X" or a "V" sent to some poor preacher, teacher or editor, would also, no doubt, be very interesting. By the way, parson Kennedy, whom we recently met at Huntville and told of our banks, intimated that he would by no means object to such a reminder of San Marcos.

GOOD-BYE, SWEETHEART.

For the Free Press.

Good-bye, sweetheart. I must leave thee, O'er the hill-tops steals the dawn; Gold and crimson rays are coming On the radiant brow of morn.

Do not weep, tho' we must sever While I sail the blue seas o'er; I'll return when June's sweet roses Fill the earth with joy once more.

Smile again, my heart to lighten, Like a gleam of sunshine bright; All the way 'twill glad and cheer me, 'E'en thro' darkest hours of night.

Do not grieve—the bliss of meeting Will repay this parting pain; Just as sunshine seems still brighter After clouds and gloomy rain.

Fare thee well—our hearts are breaking With the weight of parting woe; But I'll come home, my darling, When next June's sweet roses blow.

San Marcos, Texas. BESSIE SMITH.

Quite a Curiosity.

Mrs. Matthews, the new occupant of the Col. Ellison place, has handed us a copy of the Vicksburg Daily Citizen of July 2, 1863, printed during the siege, on wall paper. It is a curious memento of a dark period in our national history. Incidentally it commends mule steaks as an article of diet and pronounces it "sweet, savory and tender."

The body of the paper breathes wrath against "yanks and abolitionists," but it closes with a postscript dated July 4th of a different tone. We quote a few sentences:

Two days bring about great changes. The banner of the Union floats over Vicksburg. Gen. Grant has dined in Vicksburg and he did "sing" dinner with the Vicksburg Citizens live to see it. For the last time it appears on wall paper.

This queer memento of the siege of Vicksburg may be seen for a short time at our sanctum.

There was a refreshing shower on Tuesday.

B. F. Pitchford is furnishing and fixing up his room next to Russell's barber shop for the occupancy of Mr. C. G. Bills, who will put a stock of confectioneries, fruit, etc., therein in a few days.

Mr. DuBoe has procured a large tent capable of seating seven or eight hundred people which will be used in lieu of a lecture hall at the S. M. S. S. A. & S. I. the present season. It is anticipated that suitable buildings will be erected ere another year.

We ask special attention to the well-written and very interesting letter of our talented young friend, J. L. Malone, Jr. We confess we had no idea of the growth and business of San Angelo and surrounding country.

We hear complaint as to the lack of bathing facilities. There are not enough bath houses while bathers are excluded from the river within the corporate limits. Let us have enough bath houses. We return to the primitive style rather than our people should be deprived of so delightful and healthful a privilege.

Of all the cities of Texas, we believe Houston stands first in the way of the enterprise of its leading business men, among whom stands prominent Wm. D. Cleveland, whose advertisement we have the pleasure of presenting in our columns, and whom we cordially recommend to the patronage of our people.

Mr. Murchison and his "hands" have made a wonderful impression on the "Chattanooga" hill once our last. The brush is all trimmed out and a very passable road made around the entire hill. The water-company are at work putting in their piping and Mr. Smith has the grounds nearly enclosed. There is grand bird-eye view of the town from the plateau at the summit, and for miles around.

Citizens outside of the corporate limits of the town, are organizing a separate school community. At the called meeting last Saturday Jas. G. Storey, H. A. McKenna and W. R. McKie were elected trustees. They now have fifty or sixty pupils on their list. The object, as we understand it, since the town has "declared its independence," to retain these outside free school pupils as students of Corral Institute.

"SEEING IS BELIEVING."

Nowadays everybody has got into the habit of "Spinning Big Yarns" in the Newspapers in reference to their prices on their goods. One will go as far as to fairly give an article away in order to get you to buy another article.

This is all very fine as far as it goes. But you can rest assured that indirectly you pay for all you can get on the so-called "gratis principle." Look well into this matter. "A word to the Wise is Sufficient." Again we repeat, "seeing is believing." The New Firm of Married.

This (Thursday) morning, by Rev. J. A. Thomas, Mr. Andrew Galliea and Mrs. Hettie Sanders, all of San Marcos.

We received yesterday, in advance of the wedding, and without explanation, a handsome cake, and only "dropped on" the "true inwardness" of the matter just before going to press. We hope the fair bride may dwell long and happily by the side of Gal- liea before they are called to cross over Jordan. The happy pair left immediately on their wedding tour.
